Review Report

Summary

The State Controller's Office (SCO) completed a quality control review of Macias Gini O'Connell, LLP's working papers for the audit of the California Institute for Regenerative Medicine (CIRM) for the fiscal year (FY) ended June 30, 2017.

The firm's audit was performed in accordance with the standards and requirements set forth in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, often referred to as generally accepted government auditing standards (GAGAS); auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America; and the California Business and Professions Code.

Background

CIRM is a California state agency formed pursuant to the provisions of Proposition 71 approved by California voters in November 2004. Proposition 71, the California Stem Cell Research and Cures Initiative, amended the California Constitution by adding an article thereto; amended a section of the California Government Code; and added sections to the California Health and Safety Code. The purpose of the legislation was the formation of the institute to:

- Make grants and loans in order that stem cell research, research facilities, and other vital research opportunities may realize therapies, protocols, and/or medical procedures that will result in the diagnosis, treatment, and cure for major diseases, injuries, and orphan diseases;
- Support developing treatments and cures, from basic research and discovery through preclinical and translational research, to the conduct of successful clinical trials; and
- Establish the appropriate regulatory standards and oversight bodies for research and facilities development.

Health and Safety Code section 125290.30 requires the institute to "annually commission an independent financial audit of its activities from a certified public accounting firm, which shall be provided to the State Controller, who shall review the audit and annually issue a public report of that review."

Macias Gini O'Connell, LLP is an independent certified public accountant with U.S. offices located in Sacramento, Century City, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles, Newport Beach, San Diego, San Francisco, Walnut Creek, Woodland Hills, and Miami. The firm has been the independent auditor for the CIRM since FY 2005-06.
